Pastor's Corner

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

Last week I wrote about how a person seeing me in my habit in Safeway approached me and asked for prayer. Well, this week I had the opposite happen. I was in Rite Aid, wearing my secular habit: a plain black t-shirt, grey basketball shorts, and sandals with black socks (yes, I am starting to dress like my dad). Walking through the store, I saw one of our parishioners. So I smiled, waived and walked over to speak with her. She smiled back and we started to small talk. After a minute or two, she said to me, "Please tell me who you are?" I laughed and said, "Fr. Jerome, your pastor." She said, "Oh, I did not recognize you without your habit!"

This Wednesday, November 14th at 9:00 am and Thursday, November 15th at 7:00 pm in the parish hall you are invited to attend a parish financial town hall meeting. Our business manager, finance committee members and I will be presenting a more detailed summary of our current financial position, and 5 year trends. Bring your financial questions or just come to learn about all things financial here at St. Dominic's Church.

Several people have asked me about a good study bible. I did a little research and found one I like. They will be sold after Masses this weekend for $35.

God Bless,
Fr. Jerome

(November 13th in the Church)

This course (presented in Spanish only) offers an excellent overview of the theology present in the Sunday readings of this Gospel during Year C (the liturgical year that begins in December). There is a great deal of narrative and teachings of Jesus that are unique to Luke among the four canonic gospels. These texts provide a concise vision of the theological intention of the evangelist.

Remaining 3 sessions:

- ◆ November 13th: The parables of Luke
- ◆ November 20th: Episodes at the Table in Luke
- ◆ December 4th: The passion of Christ in Luke

NEW ADDITION TO CHILDREN'S SACRAMENT PREPARATION

The Dynamic
Catholic

First Communion &
First Reconciliation
Experience

New from Dynamic Catholic, St. Dominic's is proud to introduce the Blessed Series as part of its First Communion & First Reconciliation preparation program.

Blessed is a supplemental text intended to stay in the home as means to support the ageless art of bedtime storytelling between parent and child. Blessed is special because it captures the genius of biblical storytelling in a way that fans the flames of a child's imagination of who they are in God's sacred story for all of God's People. The necessity for homebased storytelling is based on two basic understandings. The first understanding is that parents are the authoritative storytellers in the eyes of their children. As such, the proper place for sacred storytelling is rightfully in the child's home among those most known, trusted and loved.

The second understanding is that children who have first heard the Word of God from a place of love in the home will be better disposed to understand the sacred story in the classroom in the hands of a religious education teacher who can give the sacred story its larger context and meaning. The Office of Faith Formation asks for your prayers for the children of our faith community who are preparing for their First Reconciliation and First Communion.

LITURGY NOTES

SHARING YOUR GIFTS WITH OTHERS

This weekend, our readings at liturgy remind us again and again that it is not the size of the gift that counts but rather it is the amount of self-giving love which is the true testament. As we celebrate Stewardship on Sunday, we are reminded again that we are given gifts from God and we are encouraged to share the gifts we have been given freely with others. Each time we gather for liturgy we embrace this spirituality and help carry on God's work.

The basic principle of the spirituality of stewardship is that we recognize that all that we have been given are gifts from God and in turn as followers of Jesus we are called to offer these gifts to others as a way to give thanks to God. How does this apply to our liturgy? The word liturgy is derived from two Greek words which are translated to mean "the work (or the service) of the people." The origin of the word easily suggests that worship cannot be removed from the process of service to others, both in our action of liturgy as well as in our everyday lives. This responsibility of service applies to each of us who gather. Saint Paul used the analogy of the body to describe the Church (1 Corinthians 12: 12-30) which also aptly describes our responsibilities at liturgy. Amy Florian writes, "In a particular liturgy some individuals fill more visible roles, yet none of us is more important than any others. How can a lector proclaim Scripture if there is no one to hear? The Presider cannot "preside" over empty pews. All of us are essential to the celebration of liturgy." If we don't share our gifts, our very presence; liturgy ceases to exist.

As good stewards we are called to share our gifts, our talents with others. So too, we are called at liturgy to share our gifts as stewards of the liturgy that we have been given by Christ. No one can fulfill all the roles and responsibilities that are required each time we gather for worship. Each of us is called to share the gifts and talents we have been given. Imagine if no one shared their gifts. How would we receive Eucharist? Who would proclaim the Scriptures? Who would lead us in music? Who would assist the Presider at liturgy? But even more is needed – Who will make sure that the linens are clean each time we gather? Who will make sure our environment is adorned appropriately to correspond with the appropriate season? I'm sure you can tell by now that in order for us to worship we must all share what we have. Many people offer their gifts to serve as liturgical ministers for our entire community. But they are only a small group. In a community this large and blessed with so many who have wonderful gifts and abilities this percentage is sadly out of balance. If we truly embrace what our vision statement which declares and we "create a vital faith community through the generous sharing of our skills, experiences, time and resources." we all need to share our gifts. How will you share yours?

Missing Parishioners?

Are there people you haven't seen at Sunday Mass lately? There can be lots of reasons, but maybe it's simply they are ill, or are unable to drive to Mass any longer.

If you know of these "missing" parishioners, we would like to reach out to them, visit them and bring them Communion if they wish. We need your help by making us aware of these parishioners, and we will do the rest.

Sometimes those who are "shut-in" are very lonely, and don't realize we offer this service. You can really make their lives more enjoyable by giving us their names, and if you know them, their phone numbers and addresses.

It would be a real act of charity on your part if you would call the parish office and provide us with the names of those you haven't seen in a while.
